Business Testing

Each part of the system goes through various rounds of testing to confirm it was developed correctly. The first round of testing, Business Testing, begins on May 8, 2023. During this phase, designated testers will evaluate system functionality and provide confirmation or corrections.

Demos

There will be opportunities to view live, virtual demonstrations of the new system. These demos will occur on a regular basis and showcase different parts of ALVIN functionality. Keep an eye out for more information in the next newsletter!
